Hispanic Heritage Month Program

Hispanic Heritage Month

Hispanic Heritage Month is a thirty days celebration of the history, achievements, culture, and contributions of Americans whose ancestors come from Mexico, Spain, the Caribbean, Central and South America. Latinos and Hispanics have made valuable contributions to our society with achievements in science, art, entertainment, politics, sports, and various other fields. It's important to recognize these achievements to honor diversity, cultures, and globalization in which everyone collaborates and respects each other.

Hispanic Heritage Month runs from September 15 to October 15 each year; this celebration was enacted into law by President Ronald Regan on August 17, 1988.
